

R E M A R K S

Applicants thank the Examiner for the telephone interview granted June 10. During that interview, the specification and drawing changes were discussed in detail with the Examiner and it was pointed out why no new matter is entered. Also the new claims presented track the specification and drawing changes and the claims are consistent with what is shown in the drawings and described in the specification. If the Examiner has any further questions, a further telephone interview is suggested.

The Examiner had previously rejected the specification and claims as disclosing a conflict regarding the first mode and the second mode by the resource pack computer program. As explained during the interview, in the first mode shown in Fig. 3, the resource pack computer program is not changing the characters to a new font, but is simply passing through the document data stream 101 and the font mapping object container as the AFP resource file 21A down to the second computer where a font conversion may then occur to create the modified document data stream 103. In mode 2, the character conversion (insertion of new font) occurs in the document data stream 101 with the resource pack computer program 105 in the first computer. After this occurs, it is no longer necessary that the AFP resource file 21A contains this new font because it has already been inserted. Therefore the AFP resource file 21A (font mapping object container 20) is emptied before it is sent down to the second computer so that the second computer does not accidentally make the same font conversion that was already done by the resource pack computer program up in the first computer.

It is respectfully submitted that with these explanations the Examiner's rejections are overcome and the case is now placed in condition for allowance.

The Commissioner is hereby authorized to charge any additional fees which may be required, or to credit any overpayment to account No. 501519.

Respectfully submitted,
